

...I've asked Dr. Pittman to assign ERDC LNOs to all of our MSCs and Districts. I expect that you'll "hug" them as one of your own and treat them as valued members of your extended, virtual staff. You should develop them as you would any one of your team, so they know your missions as well as you. They'll start by asking, "How can I support you?" and, with your help, they'll eventually proactively come to you, before you know to ask, with solutions you couldn't know existed. And in the process, you'll learn the right questions to ask of our R&D team. Only this type of partnership and relationship can make us successful.

How to Join the ERDC Liaisons MS Teams Page

TDL-CEERD-ZBS-ERDC LIAISONS

The ERDC Liaisons Microsoft Teams site contains information and documentation for ERDC MSC engagements. Each Division has its own channel to facilitate communication and collaboration. The "Posts" tab provides those outside of ERDC a single place to request assistance. You can also easily share documents with the "Files" tab.

To join the ERDC Liaisons MS public Teams page:

1. Log into USACE MS Teams
2. Select the "Teams" icon on the left-hand side
3. Select "Join or create a team"

4. Use Search Box in upper right corner to search for TDL-CEERD-ZBS-ERDC LIAISONS. It is case sensitive, so use all caps.
5. Move your mouse over the Team site.
6. Select "Join team"

The ERDC Liaisons Teams site is officially titled: TDL-CEERD-ZBS-ERDC LIAISONS

GENERAL TAB POSTS – only place all TEAM members will receive post notifications. Monthly posts from the CG's R&D Update, Technology Spotlight.

12 CHANNELS or sub-folders including all 9 MSCs. This allows for cross sharing of information across MSCs, as well as the entire Enterprise.

If someone needs assistance, they can post questions under their respective MSC Channel by using the "Posts" tab. This allows questions to be answered quickly and routed to the correct liaison for assistance.

An ERDC LNO for this subject matter will provide a response. ERDCs Michael Winkler monitors to ensure a timely response.
